This report was prepared with information received by Nov. 26, 2003

*Students enrolled in these programs may earn Cooperative Education credit for training acquired on the job.

In interpreting salary data, bear in mind that:

1. Salaries are included as reported by graduates.
2. Some of our graduates have significant professional work experience before they decide to attend college and consequently may command higher salaries than recent graduates who are just beginning their careers.

3. In some programs, the number of graduates reporting salaries is too low to be statistically significant.

4. Salaries listed do not take into account fringe benefits and other types of non-salary compensation.
